THAT PEACEFUL ARMY.

Mr. Henry Watterson made a striking contribution to history in his speech about Samuel J. Tilden at the Harlem banquet in New York on Saturday, In commenting on this speech the New York Tribune says:—"There has been a great deal of heated discussion about Mr. Tilden's part in the controversy of 1876, and in the measure by which it was settled, but Mr. Watterson's testimony is of unusual importance, not only as respects the matter of which he now speaks, but as showing Mr. Tilden's personal participation in and direction of the act of his party at a critical period.

"Mr. Watterson stated that the speech made by him January 8, 1877, proposing an assemblage of 100,000 citizens at Washington to see Mr. Tilden inaugurated, was "prepared at Mr. Tilden's request, revised by Mr. Tilden before its delivery and delivered by his authority.' It was, in fact, Mr. Tilden, then, who was responsible for this remarkable proposition Now it might have been possible for Mr. Watterson to believe that his 100,000 democrats would all go to Washington as "unarmed citizens", that his southern friends would carefully leave their familiar revolvers at home, and that the meeting would be, in fact, "a mammoth peace congress." But Mr. Tilden was not a man to indulge any such hallucination. He would have been certain that the 100,000 democrats, if assembled at that time and by such a summons, would have taken not only as many revolvers as they customarily carried, but extra rounds of cartridges, and new revolvers in the hands of men not ordinarily armed.

"That is not all. Mr. Tilden was not the sort of a man who could have believed that a live coal might properly have been dropped in a barrel of gunpowder, on the ground that an explosion would not necessarily follow. To a man of his intellect, it must have been perfectly clear that a gathering of a hundred thousand passionate partisans, at an emergency, would almost inevitably have resulted in some outbreak, in violence, and—unless his "unarmed citizens" could have their own way—in forcible attempts to override the constituted authorities. If congress and the authorities could be overawed and morally coerced to do as the "unarmed citizens" desired, there would be nothing but a "mammoth peace congress." But if the authorities and congress had arrived at a decision, in the discharge of their sworn duty, adverse to the will of the peace congress, there would have been peace about half a minute or less. It is Mr. Watterson's gift, as a brilliant man, that he can say things without precisely intending all their logical consequences. But Mr. Tilden was not that kind of a man, and if he authorized a proposition to assemble 100,000 democrats under such circumstances, he deliberately prepared for an attempt to overawe or else revolutionize the government of the United States. The man who is really vindicated, in this state of facts, appears to be General Grant, who quietly prepared for a gathering which failed to gather.

"Mr. Watterson at the same time affirms that Mr. Tilden "twice refused corrupt arrangements by either one of which his inauguration would have been reasonably sure." If that is true, it necessarily follows that these corrupt arrangements were entertained far enough by Mr. Tilden to ascertain that they would have made his inauguration reasonably sure. Yet they were refused, Mr. Watterson says, by the same Mr. Tilden whose testimony in regard to the Oregon purchase and the other cipher dispatches the public has not forgotten. His moral attitude at that time was fairly consistent with the idea that he did examine into corrupt arrangements far enough to see whether they were "reasonably sure," and also far enough to drop them if they were not reasonably safe from detection. The fact is that the more Mr Tilden's zealous friends stir this passage of history, or glorify him by imputing corrupt intentions to other men not named, the less they serve his reputation.

RAILWAY LAWS.

Did it ever occur to the minds of the wise solons who make restrictive railway laws in some of our western states, that the very institutions they aim to harrass and cripple by enforcing tariff, expressed in rates, far beneath justice and reason, that they are depriving their respective states of its best means of prosperity by destroying the element which created and sustains progress? No factor concerned in the advance of civilization, and in the prosperity of the commercial world, sways such mighty influence for good as these same railways. They will enter a sparesely settled state or territory, under very discouraging financial clouds, and at once rigorously push the task of populating and building commercial industries. Low rates are issued in freight and passenger traffic. Widespread fallacious advertising, regardless of expense, is diffused throughout the country, extolling the relative merits of this or that section of new Eldorados. Available points are made attractive in many ways—in fact, no individual, or state, or territory has ever, nor can ever do such advertising.

Every avenue of encouragement which railway management so well comprehend and so judiciously apply is given the public. At length the objective points are covered, and success, in the especially vital features of population and commerce is accomplished, and the grand result is given to the public at large for their benefit. Railway competition follows until almost every part of the state or territory is expressed in railway lines. Rivalry in service and rates extends and redounds to the welfare of all concerned. Improvements are emphasized in every direction and the problem of success is solved and the people become prosperous.

In contradistinction to this picture arises now a nemesis to destroy the common benefactor, to lay waste the splendid result attained and maintained by railway effort. Unwise legislation against railways is fast creating bad results to railroad and commercial interest in Iowa, and the prospects are that still greater decline in business and values will follow in compensation for the new Iowa state tariff which has just been forced upon all railroads traversing that state. The latest issue in rates prescribed the railways by that state enforce a diminished minimum as a maximum standard in rates throughout the gamut of classification. Of course, compliance is an obligation, but, in this forced conformity to unjust ruling railway service in Iowa will, of necessity, be cut to fit the case as near as possible in order to protect themselves from financial swamping. Estopel of improvements; the curtailing of train service, etc., will all conserve to very materially injure every avenue of industry; and all this as a result of bad judgment on the part of poor law makers.

Let us first see how well the inter state law operates, and then we might think the matter over. Thus far the inter-state law has been found to be rather crude. **

At Albany the other day an Evening Journal writer found General Butler reading a scientific magazine. "I was reading an article on astronomy," said the general. "I have a grandson who is studying astronomy, and he and I have some great debates on the subject. It is nip and tuck. He will give a poser, and then I will endeavor to stick him with one. The magazine has just such an article in it as will answer one of the young man's questions, and so I have imailed the magazine to him." And the general laughed to himself. Then he told of a geometrical question the boy gave him: "Take a plane and place a cylinder on it what part of the cylinder 'touches the plane?' The general replied, "The line." "How can that be?" responded the student "A line has no width, breadth or depth. Being without these how can anything rest on it?"

The counting of the electoral votes for president and vice-president of the United States took place to-day at Washington before a joint session of the two houses of congress. General Benjamin Harrison, of Indiana, was declared elected president for the term of four years beginning on the 4th day of March, 1889, and Hon. Levi P. Morton, of New York, was declared elected vice-president for the same period.

It is learned from the the Brooklyn Eagle that Colonel Lamont is coming to New York after the 4th of March "to open the oyster of opportunity with the knife of prestige." This surprises the New York Tribune, which adds:—"We were aware that the Colonel was to transfer his energies to the broad and busy field of the metropolis, but had understood that he had decided to pierce the pie of success with the fork opportunity

THE WISCONSIN LEGISLATURE.

The Assembly Committee to Investigate the Printing Contracts.

A Large Number of Petitions for and Against the Taylor Bill.

Milwaukee Wants Two Hundred Thousand for a City Hall

Special to the Gazette.

MADISON, Feb. 13.—The speaker of the assembly this morning appointed McCoy, Legler and G. W. Pratt as a committee to investigate the state printing contracts. The senate committee was appointed last week and the investigating will be pushed immediately.

Numerous remonstrances were presented against the Taylor railroad bill.

A batch of bills were introduced, among them:

Making the direct war tax of the state a fund for the benefit of the Veterans' home at Waupaca, the interest only to be used, and the fund to be kept intact as long as the number of inmates are fifty or more.

To create the county of Harrison.

To prevent extortion in telephone charges.

To print election ballots at public expense.

Half a dozen bills of local importance to Milwaukee were passed under a suspension of rules including one to issue bonds of $200,000 for a city hall.

In the senate forty remonstrances against and ten for the Taylor bill were presented.

Bills were introduced providing for statistical reports from commercial, private and parochial schools.

Payment of a license of $4 on every hundred received by owners of palace, drawingroom and sleeping car companies on every mile of road which cars are operated in the state.

Providing for semi-annual payment of taxes.

Authorizing competition in the statutes of Wisconsin, and making the same evidence.

Appropriating $15,000 for a contingent fund, to prevent the spread of contagious diseases.

Estimated Reductions by Tariff Bills.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—The treasury computations as to the probable effect of the tariff bills show that the House bill would reduce the collections from customs $50,350,345 and from internal revenue $17,610,234, or a total reduction of revenue of $67,960,579. The bill as amended by the Senate would reduce the customs collections $13,976,887 and the internal revenue receipts $33,905,780, or $47,882,667 in the aggregate. The average ad valorem rates under existing law is 46.91; under the House bill it would be 42.38, and under the Senate bill 46 per cent. In his letter of transmission Secretary Fairchild says the estimates are based on the imports of 1887, which can only be accepted as reliable where changes in rates are not of such character as to necessarily cause increased or diminished importations.

Minor Gossip.

The general deficiency bill reported to the House appropriates a total of $14,568,381.

The House militia committee has ordered a favorable report on Mr. Cutcheon's bill for the reorganization of the signal corps.

Representative Townshend has introduced a bill to include Canada in the act authorizing the President to arrange a conference of American nations.

The acting commissioner of internal revenue has submitted to Congress an estimate for a deficiency appropriation of $100,000 for salaries and expenses of agents and subordinate officers of internal revenue for the current fiscal year.

Murdered by Burglars.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Feb. 13.—A gang of burglars visited the borough of Wilkinsburg, eight miles from here, early this morning. They were surprised on entering a furnishing goods store by the owner, L. K. St. Claire, who slept in the store. The burglars at once opened fire on him, and he returned the fire, a dozen shots being exchanged. Mr. St. Claire was shot through the lung and leg, his injuries being mortal. The burglars were followed for six miles, but finally made their escape. Several other stores were robbed by them.

Will Fight Chicago Packers.

KANSAS, CITY Mo., Feb. 13.—Letters have been received from several Iowa packers stating that they will be present at the meeting here Friday to take action to prevent the change of rates of live hogs and packing house goods east bound. The Chicago Board of Trade filed its protest against the present rates with the Inter-state commission last Saturday.

Driven Insane by the Accident.

FORT WAYNE, Ind., Feb. 13.—A commission of lunacy has adjudged C. H. Lyman insane. Lyman was a brakeman on the Nickel-Plate railway. Two years ago his engine ran into a passenger train on the Grand Rapids & Indiana railway, injuring several passengers, one of which died, in consequence of which Lyman lost his reason.

Secretary Bayard Surprises Berlin.

LONDON, Feb. 13.—The Standard's Berlin correspondent reports that Secretary Bayard's statement that the United States had requested that a truce be declared in Samoa while the conference was sitting caused much surprise in Berlin, as the Samoans continue to occupy the land belonging to the Germans.

OBITUARY.

A Well-Known Chicago Lawyer Passes Away.

CHICAGO, Feb. 13.—About 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon John Mattocks closed his eyes in death. For some time he has been ailing from kidney disease, but nothing serious was expected. Last Sunday, while dressing, he fell unconscious and remained in that condition until his death. Dr. Guerin on being called in saw at once that it was a fatal case of blood poisoning, caused by the kidney disorder, and told the family that there was no hope. Mr. Mattocks has attended to his practice to the last, having worked on Saturday as usual. The first warning of his sudden end was when he tottered and fell to the floor on Sunday morning.

JOHN MATTOCKS.

For many years John Mattocks has been a familiar figure in Chicago, both as lawyer and politician, and, though he fought some hard fights and in them gave and took many heavy blows, he was respected by his political enemies as well as by his friends.

Two Notable Deaths.

NEW YORK, Feb. 13.—Dr. John Call Dalton died at his home here this morning, aged 64 years. He was president of the New York College of Physicians and Surgeons and was eminent as a physiologist. He had been an active and progressive member of the principal medical societies in this country.

The Rev. Immanuel Schmidt, D. D., professor emeritus of Columbia college, died yesterday, aged 83. He was called to Columbia college in 1847 as professor of German. He filled this chair till 1880, when he was retired on a pension. He also taught geography and Greek and Roman history for a short period.

Death of a Chicago Millionaire.

HUSTON, Texas, Feb. 13.—C. J. Hull of Chicago died this evening in this city of Bright's disease. He owned over $75,000 worth of real estate in Houston. He is reputed to have left an estate valued at $4,000,000. His remains were sent to Chicago for burial.

FRENCH POLITICS.

The Scrutin d' Arrondissement Bill in the Senate—Prospects of Revision.

PARIS, Feb. 13.—The scrutin d' arrondissement bill was introduced in the Senate to-day by Premier Floquet. Urgency was voted on the measure and a committee favorable to the system was appointed to consider it.

The issue of next Thursday's debate in the Chamber of Deputies on the proposed revision of the constitution is the sole topic of conversation in parliamentary circles. The ministerialists make no attempt to conceal their fears of a defeat unless M. Floquet assents to a system of revision satisfactory to the radicals, who will not vote for revision except by a constituent assembly, while M. Floquet persists that the revision must be partial and effected by a congress of the Senate and Chamber of Deputies. The conservatives side with the radicals in demanding that the subject be referred to a constituent assembly, believing that the assembly would have a large Boulangist or conservative majority. The Senate is expected to reject revision in any form as inopportune. The Chamber of Deputies will then begin the debate on the budget, on which subject it will continue talking until the opening of the exhibition, when it will adjourn until the elections in October.

Killed His Father Accidentally.

CARBONDALE, Pa., Feb. 13.—George Dimock, a Delaware & Hudson railroad engineer, was shot and mortally wounded last night by his 11-year-old son while the family were engaged in rehearsing private theatricals, in which the father was the villain and the son the hero of the play.

A Mean Husband.

The champion mean man has been found in Vermont. A young lady went into a dentist's office a few days ago and had her teeth examined, the doctor reporting them badly decayed, but by quite an outlay of money he could put them in good shape. The young lady departed, saying she would report to her husband and call again in a few days. She did so, and on her second call she was accompanied by her father, the latter telling the dentist to go ahead with the job and he would pay the bill. Thinking the dentist would wonder why he was paying the bill the father explained that the husband had said his wife's teeth decayed before he married her, and he was not going to pay for fixing them up; her father ought to do it.

The Latest Social Reform.

The newest society fad is in reference to the addressing of letters. Formerly the endearing title was "My Dear Mr." or "My Dear Miss." Now this is regarded as the commoner expression and "Dear Mr." and "Dear Miss" is taken to express greater endearment. Another fad is the use of the word man for gentleman and woman for lady. The affectation of polite society now requires a lady to refer to the guests she is entertaining as "men" and "women" who have come to visit her, instead of "gentlemen" and "ladies." All this may be the usage established by social reformers, but it seems rather "tackey."

The Pasteboards of the Day.

Fashions in visiting cards prescribe a large, almost square card for married ladies, and the name, address, and day on which madam is at home is engraved upon the pasteboard. The card of the unmarried lady is smaller, and has merely the address. The man's card is small.

The Santa Fe Route is now running a Pullman Vestibule Sleeping Car from Chicago to San Diego, via. Los Angeles, without change. The train leaves Dearborn Station, Chicago, every night at 11 o'clock. This is a great attraction and an unequalled accommodation for passengers. Office, 212 Clark street, corner Adams.

It may not be generally known that last summer the artist, T. de Thulstrop, was tendered the Russian mission—not to represent the United States at St. Petersburg, but to illustrate a brilliant series of articles on Russia, which are to appear in Harper's Magazine during the coming year. Mr. Thulstrup accepted the appointment. He spent several months traveling in Russia with Theodore Child, who will prepare one or two of the articles in the series.

It was asserted at the dinner in London celebrating the completion of the ninth edition of the "Encyclopædia Britannica" that one of the 50,000 copies of the great work that were printed 40,000 copies were sold in America. By copyrighting here the articles written by American authors the British publishers protected them largely against piracy. But the circumstance points to the value of international copyright in this country to Great Britain.

Modjeska's Honeymoon.

Still there is, as there has been, marrying and giving in marriage, and taking away in marriage, too. Modjeska tells a story about her honeymoon that is somewhat amusing. It was some years ago, but she still laughs about it. I am glad she does, so many women cry in later years over the happy incidents of their honeymoon. When the Count and Countess Bozenta went for their wedding trip, I think it was to Paris, I am not sure, it does not matter, one morning she had just got up and the Count had been out for an hour or two taking a morning walk. He came back and appeared to be excited.

"Helen! Helen! Come here."

"What is it?"

"Come here quick, I've brought you some lovely fruit, the first in the market."

"All right. I'm dressing. I'll come out as soon as I'm ready."

She dressed leisurely and came out of her room. The Count was sitting reading, deeply interested in his book. She looked around. No fruit was to be seen. She looked all over the place. The Count looked up.

"What are you looking for?"

"Where's that fruit?"

The Count looked on the table. It was not there.

"Well," he said, "I'll be hanged if I ha vent eaten it."

ASSEMBLED LEGISLATORS.

A DAY'S WORK IN THE STATE ASSEMBLIES.

Proposed Amendment to Illinois' Constitution—Anti-Dressed Beef in Michigan—Other Matters.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Feb. 13.—In the Senate Tuesday morning Mr. Crawford's resolution for the appointment of a committee of three Senators and five Representatives to attend a conference called by the Kansas Legislature to investigate the alleged beef and pork trust was adopted.

Numerous petitions in reference to prohibition and the game law were presented.

Bills were introduced as follows: By Dean, fixing eight hours as the time of labor to be required of laborers or employes of manufactories, and providing penalties for violation.

By Mr. Burke, a bill to punish kidnaping by imprisonment for not less than ten years and which may be for life; also a bill to permit none but legal voters residing in the precinct to vote at primary elections.

Mr. Kerrick offered a resolution to submit to the people a proposition to call a constitutional convention. Laid over under the rules.

A message from the Governor announced the appointment of Edward A. Pinero for public administrator of Calhoun county, and James M. Brock for public administrator of Mercer county.

Mr. Hamer's bill to change the time of holding the Circuit court in Fulton county was taken up and passed.

Mr. Fuller's bill to regulate savings banks was made a special order for Thursday morning.

Mr. Thomas' amended bill, providing for the manner of redeeming real estate sold under execution or decree, was read a second time and then ordered to a third reading.

Judge Horton's divorce bill, which was introduced by Senator MacMillan and was nearly slaughtered in the committee on judicial department, was struck dead by the passing of a motion by Senator Fuller to strike out the enacting clause. There was very little discussion of the bill, but the leading lawyers in the Senate thought the present laws against collusion in divorce suits stringent enough.

Adjourned.

The House.

In the House Thursday Mr. Dixon's bill providing for the deposit with the county treasurer of unclaimed moneys in the hands of guardians was read a second time and ordered engrossed for a third reading.

Mr. Hunt's bill amending the law in regard to hedge fences was read a second time. It provides that, upon application by the owner of any hedge fence along highways, the Commissioners may at their discretion permit said owner to grow a hedge fence, not to exceed ten rods in length, along the highway as a wind-break for stock. It was ordered to third reading.

The bill authorizing the State treasurer to receive from the United States all money which may be coming to the State of Illinois, under the provision of the Federal law, by reason of having established a home for disabled and invalid soldiers and sailors, was taken up on second reading. The Federal law provides that States shall be paid at the rate of $100 per annum for every disabled and invalid soldier or sailor supported in such home. The bill was ordered to third reading, after the adoption of an amendment correcting its phraseology.

A long and bitter discussion took place over Mr. Miller's bill amending the habitual criminal act which was taken up for second reading. It provides that a second conviction for burglary, grand larceny, rape, arson, horse stealing, robbery, forgery, or counterfeiting shall be punished by imprisonment in the penitentiary for the full term provided for such crime, and that a third conviction shall be punished by life imprisonment, unless pardoned by the Governor.

Mr. Lee's bill amending the pauper act was ordered to third reading after some amendment. This bill provides that for towns containing 4,000 inhabitants or over the county board shall appoint the overseer of the poor for such towns, who shall be a resident of such town, and fix his compensation and term of office, which shall not exceed the term of said board.

Mr. Crafts introduced the following resolution and asked its reference to the committee on revenue:

"Resolved, That article 8 of the constitution of this State shall be amended to read as follows:

"ARTICLE 9. Revenue—The General Assembly shall provide by law for the raising of revenue for the support of the State and local governments, and may provide for the making of local improvements by special assessment or by special taxation of contiguous property or otherwise."

The following resolution was also introduced by Mr. Crafts and referred to the committee on elections:

"Resolved, That section 1 of article 7 of the constitution of this State be amended so as to read as follows:

"Section 1. Every person having resided in this State one year, in the county ninety days, in the election district sixty days next preceding any election, who was an elector in this State the 1st of April, 1848, or obtained a certificate of naturalization before any court of record in this State prior to the 1st day of January, 1870, or was an elector in this State Jan. 1, 1889, or who shall be a male citizen of the United States above the age of 21 years and able to read and write the English language, shall be entitled to vote at such election; but no person shall be entitled to vote at any election who has been convicted of a felony or who has been convicted of a misdemeanor within two years of any such election, or who has received aid as a pauper from the authorities of any county, town, city, or village within six months of any such election; and the general assembly shall provide by law for the ascertainment of the constitutional qualifications of persons claiming the right to vote and for the registration of qualified voters at least thirty days prior to every election, and no person shall be entitled to vote unless so qualified and registered,"

WISCONSIN SOLONS AT WORK.

A Resolution Introduced Against Contract Convict Labor.

MADISON, Wis., Feb. 13.—The clerk's desks of both houses are covered with remonstrances against the passage of H. A. Taylor's railroad bill.

"Whereas, The Republican party was organized for the enfranchisement of labor and to secure to the toiling millions equal rights and privileges under the laws of the country; and,

"Whereas, It remains staunchly true to the ideas in which it had its origin and will spare no effort to improve and elevate the conditions of labor which are compatible with the principles of equity and justice; therefore,

"Resolved by the assembly, the Senate concurring, that we are opposed both to the importation of the pauper labor of the old world and the system of contract prison labor at home."

This is looked upon as a trap set for the Republican majority in both Houses. In the course of the debate in the House on the alleged infamous dens of north Wisconsin Miss Kate Bushnell was classed as an "itinnerant moralist."

A bill was offered proposing to raise the license of pedlers. A resolution was adopted to amend the constitution, making, in case of vacancy, the oldest member of the Supreme court in point of service the chief justice, and to retire Justice Dupuy.

Bills were introduced amending the laws relating to excise and the sale of liquors; relating to the discharge of insolvent debtors who make voluntary assignments; amending the revised statutes relating to Circuit court jurors. Bills were passed authorizing the city of La Crosse to build and maintain a bridge across the Mississippi river; to change the time of holding court in the second judicial circuit.

MICHIGAN LEGISLATORS.

After Two Weeks Intermission They Are Again at Work.

LANSING, Mich., Feb. 13.—The Michigan Legislature reassembled Tuesday after an intermission of two weeks, during which all the State institutions were visited. Capt. Judd of Grand Rapids introduced a bill in the lower House to prohibit the sale of meat in any city in the State of 10,000 people or over when the meat has not been first inspected on the hoof by a meat inspector appointed by the common council. The bill provides a fine of $50 for a violation of the law, and a fine and imprisonment for any inspector who neglects his duty. Mr. Judd at first decided to make the act apply to the entire State, but for some reason he has limited the application to cities only. Its weak point is that it authorizes the common councils to appoint such inspectors, but does not compel them to do so, and its provisions apply only to cities where an inspector has been appointed. The bill will not pass in its present form.

The Holbrook bill, aimed at trusts and combinations, has been modified by ex-Chief Justice Christiancy, in whose hands it was placed for revision. He objected to the clause which declares the retail dealers handling articles affected by trust prices or methods are guilty of misdemeanor and has substituted an entirely new section in its place.

Among the bills "noticed" for introduction in the House were bills for the appointment of a State agent for discharged convicts; to compensate meteorological observers acting under the State Board of Health; to increase the fees of justices for adjournments from 15 to 50 cents; to take the counties of Gogebic and Ontonagon from the Twelfth judicial district and Iron county from the Twenty-fifth and to erect them into a new circuit, to be known as the Thirtieth; to prevent owners of artesian wells from using pipes over one inch in diameter in case the flow lessens the supply in the wells of surrounding property owners.

Mr. Huebner gave notice of a bill for the uniform assessment of property and to tax all property now exempted on the same basis as other taxable property. This includes the railroad, telegraph, and telephone companies, which now pay special taxes, and the charitable institutions and churches. In the Senate Mr. Wisner introduced a bill to provide for the winding up of mining and manufacturing corporations whose charters have expired, and Mr. Blackwell a bill to provide for township schools in place of the present district system.

Another Whack at Gov. Church.

BISMARCK, Dak., Feb. 13.—The war between Gov. Church and the Legislature is still on. A resolution was adopted by the House declaring that no communication foreign to business of the Legislature and Territory shall be read to the House, and the speaker and clerk are made sole judges of what shall be received. The purpose of the resolution is to prevent the Governor from make another such attack as on Saturday when he abused the Legislature and his own predecessor.

Wouldn't Accept a Bribe.

ALBANY, N. Y., Feb. 13.—Assemblyman John Martin of New York, in open assembly to-day, created a sensation. He said: "An attempt has been made in New York to bribe me in reference to the assembly ceiling report." He declined to give the name of the would-be briber. In due time he would tell all, he said.

LE CARON UNDER FIRE.

He Is Forced to Acknowledge He Is a Paid Spy.

LONDON, Feb. 13.—The Parnell commission reassembled this morning and the court room was inconveniently crowded.

Major Le Caron, or Beach, took his place on the witness-stand and the cross-examination was continued by Sir Charles Russell. Mr. Davitt was present and watched the proceedings closely.

Sir Charles directed his questions to-day mainly to the career of the major as a spy and paid agent of the British government and to the motives and inducement he had for giving his testimony before the court. Le Caron was forced to admit he had received £50 per month for years from the British government and far more from the Canadian authorities, and that he was still under the pay of both, and that a considerable sum was due him. It was expected Mr. Davitt would also cross-examine the witness, but he did not do so.

The questions put by Sir Charles Russell were keen and searching, and important results were obtained. LeCaron admitted O'Kelly and Egan were expelled from a secret organization because they joined in the Parnell movement; that he made no report to the British government of his alleged interviews with O'Kelly and Parnell, although both were important, and that although, as alleged, Parnell told him to see Denny, Sullivan, Farrer and Hind he made no report of his interviews with them to Parnell, although he testifies he did see them.

Witness alleges as reason for not reporting in this case that Egan had given instructions that he should report to him only. The witness was glib, cool and collected. He contradicted none of the main points in his direct examination, but the admissions elicited from him discredited his entire testimony.

Shot While Out Driving.

NORFOLK, Neb., Feb. 13.—Dr. E. A. Kelly, superintendent of the Norfolk hospital for the insane, was shot and dangerously wounded by Michael Soulier and Albert Boru, while driving with his wife. Four bullets struck the doctor. His wounds are not necessarily fatal. Soulier is a brother of Caroline Soulier, a domestic at the hospital upon whom an operation was performed by Drs. Kelly, Hasson, and Bear Jan. 10, from the effects of which she died three days later. Drs. Kelly and Hasson were under $10,000 bonds on the charge of murder.

For the restoration of faded and gray hair to its original color and freshness, Ayer's Hair Vigor remains unrivaled. This is the most popular and valuable toilet preparations in the world; all who use it are perfectly satisfied that it is the best.

A Terrible Misfortune.

It is a calamity of the direst kind to feel that one's physical energies are failing in the prime of life—to feel more nerveless, more dispirited, weaker every day. Yet this is the unhappy lot of hundreds who surround us. A source of renewed strength which science approves, in behalf of which multitudes of the debilitated have and are every day testifying, and which in countless instances, has built up constitutions sapped by weakness and infirmity and long unbenefitted by other means, surely commends itself to all who need a tonic. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is such a medicine—pure, botanic, soothing to the nerves, promotive of digestion and fertilizer of the blood. Dyspepsia and nervousness—the first a cause, the second a consequence of lack of stamina—depart when a course of the Bitters is tried. All forms of malarial diseases, rheumatism, kidney and bladder trouble, constipation and biliousness are annihilated by this standard family medicine.

Merit wins

We desire to say to our citizens, that for years we have been selling Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, Dr. King's New Life Pills, Bucklen's Arnica Salve and Electric Bitters, and have never handled remedies that sell as well, or that have given such universal satisfaction. We do not hesitate to guarantee them every time, and we stand ready to refund the purchase price if satisfactory results do not follow their use. These remedies have won their great popularity purely on their merits. F. Sherer & Co. druggists.

WEDNESDAY FEBRUARY 13.

THE NATIONAL CAPITAL.

A DAY'S WORK IN THE SENATE AND HOUSE.

A Resolution Favoring Mr. Thomas' Naval Cruiser Adopted—The Behring Seal Fisheries—Gossip.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—Among the Senate bills reported from committees and placed on the calendar was one to provide for the enforcement of the quarantine laws and regulations of the United States and for the establishment of a National Board of Health.

The following House bills were taken from the calendar and passed:

To authorize the Court of Claims to hear, determine and render final judgment upon the claim of the "old settlers" or western Cherokee Indians.

To pay $8,000 to Charles F. Swain, master of the bark Philena, of New York, for going to and rescuing shipwrecked seamen from an uninhabited island near Cape Horn.

Granting right of way to the Pine Land and Water company across Fort Lowell Military Reservation, in Arizona.

The Senate resumed consideration of the naval appropriation bill, the pending question being Mr. Chandler's amendment to strike out the words requiring the new cruising monitor to be constructed of the type under the plans and specifications of Mr. Thomas of Illinois.

Mr. Chandler expressed his doubts whether Mr. Thomas had done anything whatever in the making of plans and specifications or whether Mr. Thomas had the skill and ability to do so. His understanding was that Mr. Thomas had merely enumerated certain ideas as a desideratum in a ship and that naval officers now in the employ of the government had made all the designs, plans, and specifications. He thought it altogether wrong to put such a provision in an appropriation bill; but if anybody was to be recognized in that manner it should be the men who had taken the ideas and designed the ship. Finally the clause was made to read as follows:

"One armored steel cruising monitor of the type approved and recommended by a naval board in its report to the secretary of the navy and by him referred to and approved in his letter to the chairman of the committee on naval affairs of the House of Representatives, dated Jan. 9, 1889, to be constructed according to plans and specifications furnished by the navy department, to be approved by the secretary of the navy."

Mr. Cullom said that Mr. Thomas had devoted a good deal of labor to the matter, but he had done so for the public good, and not from any ambition to be specially identified by name with the ship. And yet he (Mr. Cullom) had a private letter in his pocket from the gentlemen who had done the clerical work in getting up the plans and specifications, giving the entire credit of the invention to Mr. Thomas.

Messrs. Plumb and Hale eulogized the work of Secretary Whitney in building up the navy and prophesied that in a few years the United States would have the best navy in the world.

An amendment was adopted appropriating $50,000 for testing the Hurst guns, and then the bill was passed.

Mr. Everts asked the Senate to consider the resolution reported from the committee on privileges and elections as to outrages in Washington county, Texas, and directing the committee to revise the existing laws regulating the election of members of Congress.

Mr. Harris remonstrated against occupying the time of the Senate, at this inopportune and unauspicious period of the session, in a political discussion. He presented the condition of the appropriations and the tariff bill, and suggested the danger of an extra session. Besides, there were over 300 bills on the calendar that had been considered by committees and were of more or less importance.

Mr. Sherman said that the debate on the resolution would probably not take so wide a range as the Senator from Tennessee apprehended, and not interfere with the public business. On the other hand, the importance of the subject outweighed and any question involving money or any bill of the calandar.

Mr. Morgan remonstrated against taking up the resolution, and declared that if debate were opened Republican Senators might as well provide for their incoming President calling an extra session of Congress.

After some further discussion the question was taken on Mr. Evarts' motion and it was agreed to by a party vote of 22 to 19. The resolution accompanying the report was read as follows:

"Resolved, That the committee on privileges and elections be directed carefully to revise the existing laws regulating elections of members of Congress with a view of providing for a more complete protection of the exercise of the elective franchise and for the punishment of offenses against it, and to report to the next legislative session of the Senate by bill or otherwise."

Mr. Harris then came forward with the suggestion that in order to economize time and to avoid an irritating sectional debate, the vote be taken at once, and without discussion, on the adoption of the resolution.

Mr. Evarts—somewhat embarrassed by the proposition—did not reply immediately, but looked to Republican Senators around him as if for some indication of their opinion on the subject, but finally made answer that he should be very glad to keep the debate within bounds, but he thought it right that the committee should be permitted to lay before the Senate the grounds on which the resolution was based. It would be optional with Senators on the other side to reply or not. Adjourned.

The House.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—On motion of Mr. McCreary of Kentucky the Senate bill to enable the President to protect the interests of the United States in Panama, was referred to the committe on foreign affairs and leave granted to the committee to report at any time.

Mr. Townshend of Illinois introduced a bill appropriating $50,000 for a special display of the farm products of the United States at the Paris exhibition.

The Smalls-Elliot contested election case then came up for debate and after Mr. O'Ferrall (Va.) had spoken an hour on the subject an agreement was made limiting the debate to six hours on each side, inclusive of the time already occupied.

Mr. Johnson (Ind.) and Mr. McComas (Md.) discussed the question and then the contestant, Mr. Smalls, was accorded the floor and advocated his own claims, after which the case was laid over.

Will Confirm Colman's Nomination.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—The nomination of Commissioner Colman to be Secretary of Agriculture was favorably reported to the executive session of the Senate. A Republican Senator objected to its consideration, and it went over until the next executive session, when, it is understood, the nomination will be confirmed.

The nominations of Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Thompson to be civil service commissioner, and of Gen. Stevenson to be judge of the District supreme court will be subject to the rule adopted by the majority of the Senate respecting political nominations. Mr. Thompson is objected to on the score of extreme partisanship, while the objection to Mr. Stevenson lies in the fact that he is not a resident of the District.

The death of Mrs. Jay Gould recalls the story of her marriage, and the beginning of her husband's remarkable financial career. She was the daughter of Daniel G. Miller, who made a great fortune in the wholesale grocery business. When she first met Mr. Gould he had just come to this city, and was boarding at the Everett house, across the corner from the Miller residence. He was then a poor, but promising young man. Mr. Miller at once recognized his ability, and became associated with him in the affairs of the Rutland & Washington railroad. It is said that Mrs. Miller was strongly opposed to his marriage with her daughter, but if her objections were due to the state of his finances she must long ago have changed her mind regarding his fitness. Mrs. Gould had about $50,000 at the time of her marriage, which she loaned to her husband, and the investment of this sum was the real beginning of Gould's career. For several years he was not very successful and it seemed as if he would lose every cent of his wife's dower. But by dint of shrewd calculation he managed to ward off disaster till he and "Jim" Fisk got control of the Erie road, and from that time the question of his success was settled. He was soon able to set apart his wife's money, though he still invested it for her. About three years ago she desired a settlement. Her interests were figured up, and it was found that her little fortune of $80,000 had increased to more than two millions, which neat sum is now put in Government bonds and other safe securities.

The domestic life of the Goulds has been an exceptionally happy one, and the great railroad magnate and his children are nearly prostrated by the death of the wife and mother. Mrs. Gould was an invalid for many years and unable to go into society. Her whole time was therefore given to her family, and her devotion was most beautiful. Six sons and daughters mourn her loss. The eldest, George J. Gould, is not yet twenty-four, but he has been married several years and is the father of two children. He has already proved himself a "chip of the old block" in financial matters. The second son is twenty-two. He was educated at Columbia college and is of a quiet, studious disposition. In the management of such of his father's affairs as he has been forced to look after, he had shown good business qualities. Miss Gould, who has her mother's name, Helen, is a thoughtful girl of 19 years. She is a member of Dr. Paxton's church, which all the family attend, and is interested in its charitable and other work. The younger children, two boys and a girl, are aged respective 16, 13 and 11, and in their characters one can see signs of their father's ability combined with the gentle qualities of the mother.

Mrs. Gould's ill-health not only deprived her of society, but kept her from the benevolent work she would have liked to have done. In this respect she was very different from Mrs. J. J. Astor, who died about a year ago. The latter was one of the most active of philanthropists, as well as a great society woman. Her death was therefore much more widely mourned than was Mrs. Gould's. All sorts and conditions of people, the rich and the poor, the gay and the sad, the aristocrats of Fifth avenue and the paupers of Avenue A, sufferers in the hospitals and newsboys on the streets—all felt a personal loss when Mrs. Astor died. Having every grace of culture and education, with a position of undisputed eminence, an enormous fortune, and a charity as vast as her opportunities, she was not only a leader in society, but a zealous worker in every good cause. Her yearly income of $100,000 she spent entirely in charity, but the mere giving of money, even so generously, was nothing compared to her ministrations to the sick and the poor in their houses. Of public benefactions she and her husband were not neglectful, as the Astor Library, the perfectly equipped Cancer Hospital, and other gifts to the city testify. It has often been said that the great Astor fortune was remarkable in that it excited no envy. In view of the use to which so much of it has been put, can this be a matter of wonder?

This is a great year for the Metropolitan Museum of Art. Scarcely has the public grown accustomed to its enlarged building and improved condition, when presto, another red letter day comes in its history, and it is again the subject of comment and congratulation. Its last good fortune is Mr. Henry G. Marquand's princely gift of the collection of old masters which he loaned to the museum at its opening a few weeks ago. This is the largest and best collection of the kind in the United States. There are thirty five canvases, and their money value is estimated at more than half a million of dollars. Mr. Marquand's knowledge of art is so well known that to say that this collection is the result of a lifetime of thought and study is sufficient guarantee of its importance from an artistic standpoint. It is, indeed, a most munificent gift, and one that would be an addition to any art museum in the world.

New York city has some curious geographical terms not found on the maps, but perfectly familiar to the residents of the metropolis. They are derived from the condition or nationality of the residents, and furnish a good index to the character of various localities. "The Brown Stone District," for instance, speaks for itself, as does Hell's Kitchen," which needs hardly be described as a place where policemen are afraid to go alone. Similar names are given to other neighborhoods, but they are all alike except in this degree of elegance or squalor expressed. More interesting are those places named from the nationality of their inhabitants. The chief of these are "Chinatown"—Mott street—where the almond-eyed celestial, in all the oddity of his national garb and customs holds undisputed sway; "Germany," east of Second avenue, from Houston to Fourteenth streets, where nothing but Deutsch is spoken, where the signs are all in German, and where lager beer is the prevailing fluid; "Africa," otherwise known as Thompson street, the abode of the colored gentry; "Judaea," near the east end of Canal street, where one would think a majority of the 100,000 Hebrews of New York city lived; and "Italy," the neighborhood about Five Points, where dressed in their picturesque native costumes, and speaking nothing but their own musical language, hosts of Italians may be found. To visit all these places gives a good idea of the cosmopolitan character of the metropolis. In no other place in the world can a similar proximity of widely different people be found.

***

Much has been written about the Chinese, the Hebrews, and other foreigners of New York, but seldom does one read about the Italians who have settled here to the number of fifteen thousand. There is a general idea that they are uninteresting as a people—a very mistaken idea indeed. For industry and sobriety, for politeness of manners, for beauty of form and feature and for picturesqueness of dress, they are ahead of our other foreign populations. Cleanliness, to be sure, is not their supreme virtue, and the poorest classes are often dressed in miserable rags, but it is a noteworthy fact that even among these there are no beggars. The supposition that the majority of organ-grinders and strolling players are Italians is a mistake. These nuisances are mostly Germans. Most of the Italians are laborers, waiters and ragpickers, but great numbers of the higher classes have won important positions as music and language teachers, writers and tradesmen. J. G. Brown, whose pictures of street boys are so popular that no first-class gallery is complete without at least one, has recently opened the eyes of the artistic world to the fact that most interesting and beautiful studies are to be found among the Italian children. Almost any of them might pass for one of Raphael's cherubs come down from the clouds to play in the dust of the street. It is surprising that they have not oftener served as artists' models. GEN. HUNT'S SUCCESSOR.

Adjt.-Gen. Drum Will Probably Be Appoint by President-Elect Harrison.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—The lively scramble for the Governorship of the United States Soldiers' Home, which becames vacant by the death of Gen. Hunt, will soon commence among the several hundred retired army officers in this city.

There is no pay attached to the office, but the advantage of a comfortable home in one of the most beautiful suburban spots within the district limits, with the privilege of all the good things that the well-cultivated garden and orchard of the home affords and other perquisites in the way of carriages, public servants, etc., are sufficient incentives to inspire officers of the highest rank to seek the place. The fact, too, that the home is often utilized by the President as his summer residence or retreat from the business cares and the oppresive heat of the White House during the heated term makes the position more attractive. It is not at all likely that the position will be filled by President Cleveland, though he has the privilege. Indeed, it is not probable that any officer would care for the detail at the present time, in view of the uncertain tenure. Major Rittenhouse, the Deputy Governor, will probably remain in charge until a selection is made by Mr. Harrison.

Adjt.-Gen. Drum is spoken of as a possible candidate for the position. He is a personal friend of Gen. Harrison, and the one above all that the President-elect would probably prefer to have in charge of the home in the event of his taking up his summer quarters there. Gen. Drum retires in May next.

BEHRING SEA FISHERIES.

A Mass of Documents Transmitted to the Senate by the President.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—The President, in answer to a resolution adopted last month, has transmitted to the Senate documents relating to the fisheries and navigation of Behring sea, etc. Secretary Bayard, in a note to the President accompanying the correspondence, says:

"As heretofore announced to Congress, negotiations are pending with a view to the protection of seal life in Behring sea by international arrangement. Some of the correspondence of a confidential character, and as yet incomplete, is withheld, but none of it has relation to the orders given for the regulation of the seizure of vessels engaged in sealing in Behring sea."

The correspondence relative to the conclusion of treaties for the protection of fur seals in Behring sea includes the instructions sent by Mr. Bayard to our ministers to France, Germany, Great Britain, Japan, Russia, Sweden, and Norway. To this the governments of France, Great Britain, Russia, and Japan made favorable responses, but that of Sweden and Norway declined to take part, because his people were not engaged or interested in seal-fishing. In a letter to Secretary Bayard, dated Feb. 5, 1889, Secretary Fairchild says:

"I inclose herewith three copies of a compilation published in 1882, which contains all the standing rules and regulations relating to said fishing or taking seals. No instructions of a general and permanent character in regard to the subject have been issued since that date."

EVERY NIGHT I SCRATCHED

Until the skin was raw. Body covered with scales like spots of mortar. Cured by the Cuticura Remedies.

I am going to tell you of the extraordinary change your Cuticura Remedies performed on me. About the 1st of last April I noticed some red pimples like coming out all over my body, but thought nothing of it until some time later on, when it began to look like spots of mortar spotted on, and which came off in layers, accompanied with itching. I would scratch every night until I was raw. Then the next night the scales being formed, meanwhile, were scratched off again. In vain did I consult all the doctors in the country, but without aid. After giving up all hopes of recovery, I happened to see an advertisement in the newspaper about your Cuticura Remedies, and purchased them from my druggist, and obtained almost immediate relief. I began to notice that the scaly eruptions gradually dropped off and disappeared one by one, and have been fully cured. That the disease thirteen months before I began taking the Cuticura Remedies, and in four or five weeks was entirely cured. My disease was eczema and psoriasis. I recommend the Cuticura Remedies to all in my vicinity, and I know of a great many who have taken them, and that from the knowledge of them, especially mothers who have babes with scaly eruptions on their heads and bodies. I cannot express in words the thanks to you for what the Cuticura Remedies have been to me. My body was cured with the scales, and I am now a fair spectacle to behold. Now my skin is as nice and clear as a baby's.

Catarrh to Consumption.

Catarrh in its destructive force stands next to and undoubtedly leads on to consumption. It is therefore singular that those afflicted with this fearful disease should not make it the object of their lives to rid themselves of it. Deceptive remedies concocted by ignorant pretenders to medical knowledge have weakened the confidence of the great majority of all sufferers in advertized remedies. They become resigned to a life of misery, rather than torture themselves with doubtful palliatives.

But this will never do. Catarrh must be met at every stage and combated with all our might In many cases the disease has assumed dangerous symptoms. The bones and cartilage of the nose, the organs of hearing, of seeing and of tasting so affected as to be useless, the uvula so elongated the throat so inflamed and irritated as to produce a constant and distressing cough.

Sanford's Radical Cure meets every phase of Catarrh, from a simple head cold to the most loathsome and destructive stages. It is local and constitutional, instant in relieving, permanent in curing, safe, economical and never failing.

Each package contains one bottle of the Radical cure, one box of Catarrhal Solvent, and an Improved Inhaler, with treatise; price, $1.

IT IS LIKELY TO FIGURE IN A CHURCH TRIAL SOON.

The trouble among Milwaukee Methodists which has developed in connection with the case of A. Reid, who a short time ago was refused a letter of withdrawal from Ashbury congregation and subsequently brought a charge of Sabbath breaking against the pastor of the church, the Rev. F. L. Wharton, does not seem to be likely to subside just yet. The latest phase of the matter is that the Rev. Mr. Wharton has served upon Mr. Reid a charge of unchristian conduct, upon which he will be tried before a commission to be hereafter appointed for the purpose in accordance with the rules governing matters of this sort in the Methodist church. The friends of Mr. Reid will not confine themselves to his defense, it is said, but will allege that he is the aggrieved party, claiming that the charge that Mr. Wharton did buy a paper of chewing tobacco Sunday was based on truth, and also that the pastor did not treat him equitably in the matter of his application for a letter of withdrawal.

A MINATURE ENCYCLOPEDIA.

Prominent among the handy little books that have recently come to our notice is Conklin's Handy Manual of Useful Information and Atlas of the World. The edition of 1889, which has just been issued, is a marvel of completeness. It contains within its 440 pages a mine of useful information on thousands of different topics. It is adapted to the use of the business man, the professional man, the farmer or the mechanic. As a political encyclopedia it appears thorough and comprehensive. The volume contains fifty full-page colored maps and is of value as an atlas and gazetteer.

A concise and accurate manual of parliamentary rules and usages, and a manual of business forms conclude the book, which appears to be an abreviated encyclopedia, compiled in a systematic manner. It is handsomely bound in red cloth limp covers at twenty-five cents, and in stiff cloth, gold embossed, library style, at fifty cents. Persons desiring the book, or an agency for it, should communicate with the publishers, Laird & Lee, Lakeside building, Chicago, Ill.

Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup has been before the public for years, and is pronounced by thousands superior to all other articles for the cure of coughs, colds, influenza, and all pulmonary complaints.

THE WEATHER.

At seven o'clock this morning the thermometer indicated 7 degrees above zero. Snow with southeast wind. At one o'clock p. m. the register was 19 degrees above zero. Light snow with southeast wind. For the corresponding hours one year ago the register was 18 and 45 degrees above zero.

FOUGHT TO A STAND-STILL.

The McAuliffe-Myer Championship Prize-Fight Declared a Draw.

Sixty-Six Rounds Stubbornly Fought Before the Final Decision.

Special to the Gazette.

CHICAGO, Feb. 13—The fight for the light-weight championship of the world, between Jack McAuliffe and Billy Myer, came off this morning. After sixty-six rounds of the most stubbornly-contested sort, the fight was declared a draw. Few details have yet been received.

Up to the fourteenth round the fight was simply a sparring match. The next fourteen rounds were marked by fierce fighting, lasting for four hours and twenty-five minutes.

In the 28th round the sheriff came in and pulled out a billy but was thrown down stairs and the door shut upon him. The fight was a fierce and a bloody one.

A LATER ACCOUNT.

Special to the Gazette.

NORTH JUDSON, Ind., Feb. 13—It was at first feared that the McAuliffe-Myer fight must be indefinitely postponed on account of police interference. The sheriff was finally gotten out of the way, however, and at 4:45 the fight began.

The first ten rounds lasted until 7:40, neither man being hurt.

At end of the seventh round there had been no change except that Myer had black eyes.

At the end of the twenty-sixth, time was called for two minutes, so that Referee Mike McDonald could explain to the sheriff that it was not a fight, but a boxing match. Before the twenty-eighth round there were twenty minutes' delay, to give time for a similar explanation to the town marshal.

In round thirty-first blood was spilled by Myer landing a right-hander on McAuliff's nose. No knock-downs had yet been scored.

The fight was declared a draw at 11:55, at the end of the sixty-sixth round, neither men being badly hurt.

THEY FOOLED THE SHERIFF.

NORTH JUDSON, Ind., Feb. 13.—The Myer-McAuliffe prize fight was brought to an issue about 4:30 Wednesday morning, after the failure of a previous attempt. The special from Streator bearing the Illinois "Cyclone" and 150 of his friends arrived in this village at 11:15 Tuesday night. Another special left Chicago at 8:20 with local and Eastern sports numbering 400 and the Brooklyn pugilist stowed carefully away in a bagge car. Alf Kennedy piloted the Chicago contingent to the ring, and upon arriving found the Streator forces on hand. The thermometer at the station registered 10 below zero. The night was clear, so that when still some distance from the house in the upper floor of which the ring was pitched a tall figure in white became visible in the road. The crowd laughingly called attention to the "White Cap." The individual was not a White Cap, but that other terror of prize fighters in Indiana—the sheriff. When Kennedy approached the official the latter at once made himself known, and announced that the intended encounter could not take place. No parleying followed, but the crowd of muttering, disgusted sports scattered about the village and discussed the predicament in which they had been placed. This was just at midnight, and being thoroughly chilled and angered word was passed around about 1 o'clock that all hands take to the prairies.

The trains pulled out with everybody throwing imprecations upon North Judson and its people, the sheriff in particular. But this was only a bluff. The trains left the town, but only went about five miles north, and there side-tracked. In the meantime Alf Kennedy, Dick Roche and others interested remained in town. Why these leaders remained in town may never be known, but it is said that after expressing regrets to the sheriff and bidding each other good night, the upright and law-enforcing guardian walked out of the grocery, up the road, and into the peaceful confines of his happy family circle. It is further alleged that the good sheriff complained of feeling quite ill, and decided upon retiring earlier than usual.

Whether this be true was not known, but at about the same time such a thing might have happened the trains, then five miles up the road, started back for the second time, reached this place at 2:55 o'clock. Every one was cautioned not to raise a voice, and the crowd filed out slowly, and with solemn tread marched to the ring side, where preliminaries to the great fight were soon in progress.

The preliminaries of the mill were long delayed, but at this hour (4:30 a. m.) the men are about to enter the ring.

Secretary (whispering)—Their wives are here.

The President (loudly)—Owing to the lateness of the hour further debate is postponed. Adjourned.

The Trials of a Family.

"Mamma," asked Dick plaintively, "am I all the children we've got?"

"Yes, dear," answered mamma, smiling at his curious plural and pronoun.

"Then," said Dick with decision, "I shall hang up both stockings next year so they'll just touch the floor easy, and ask Santa Claus to please put a foot in each, with a little brother onto 'em. I'm tired of playing I'm a family all the time."

A La Trousers.

Bobby has been imparting to the minister the important and cheerful information that his father has got a new set of false teeth.

"Indeed, Bobby," replied the minister indulgently, "and what will he do with the old ones?"

"Oh, I s'pose," replied Bobby, "they'll cut 'em down and make me wear 'em."

SIGHT GAVE HER SPEECH.

HOW A JANESVILLE DRY GOODS MAN WAS SURPRISED.

"I never supposed until just the other day that a deaf person could hear," said an east side dry goods man. "The way I found out my mistake was rather curious too. I was waiting on a lady out in front of the store and we had quite a conversation. I noticed, though, that every time I spoke while my face was turned away she didn't seem to hear. Once when I spoke to her while she was looking at a piece of goods it was the same way. I spoke louder than usual, even, and couldn't think what was the matter. Finally I noticed that when I spoke she kept very close watch of my face. Next time I made motions with my lips as if I were forming words, but didn't make any sound. She answered the name as if I had spoken, and I began to see through it. The lady was listening with her eyes instead of her ears.

"The other day I heard more about the case from a friend. The lady was entirely deaf and had not spoken a word for a year. She noticed one day that she could catch a word here and there in a sentence by watching the lips of the speaker, and began to give the matter study. Now she can 'hear' as well as any one, and is even trying to master German."

'That is a peculiar case," said a gentleman connected with the Milwaukee public schools as he overheard the dry goods man's story," but we have in Milwaukee whole rooms full of deaf children who are being trained in the same way. The children are taken in when about seven years of age. They have never uttered an articulated sound, and yet they are taught in a short time to converse with each other and with those who they meet. The first lessons are most difficult and a great deal of patience has to be exercised. There is object teaching when, from a little cupboard in the corner of the room, there is brought a collection of animals made from India rubber. The little ones are taught to utter the names of the animals and the sounds are communicated to them in a peculiar way. The teacher takes the pupil's hand which she places on her throat, speaking slowly. The child feels the vibration of the vocal organs and then imitates the sound in a very imperfect way at first, but after a few lessons can speak the word audibly. The letters are also taught by writing them on the blackboard and repeating them, the pupil watching the position of the teacher's lips. The digraph "sh" is the most difficult of articulation and it is not learned until long after the other sounds are uttered with distinctness. In teaching this sound a very unique plan is made use of. A small wax taper is lighted and held by the teacher in front of and slightly below the lips. In uttering the difficult digraph, the quick expulsion of the breath blows out the candle. The taper is held at such an angle that the lips and teeth must be in proper position to utter the sound before the breath blows out the light. The vowels are all easily learned because the vibration of the vocal organs can be felt, while the consonants are much more difficult of utterance."

FISHING AT KOSHKONONG.

AN IMMENSE NUMBER OF FISH CAUGHT BY HOOKS IN THE LAKE.

Whitewater Register: From the railroad stations at Edgerton, Koshkonong and Ft. Atkinson alone there have been shipped between December 5th, 1888, and January 31, 1889, 47,270 pounds of fish caught from Lake Koshkonong through the ice. Add to this the unknown number of pounds caught and sold from wagons in all the towns within a radius of fifteen miles from the lake and the total will be something staggering. The greater part of these fish, as we learn from the most reliable of sources were only part grown, averaging perhaps from one to two pounds each. In these figures it seems to the Register as though there must be some food for thought by our state lawgivers. How much does it pay to stock our inland lakes at state expense with fry, and to pass laws protecting fish through that season of the year when the fewest fish can be caught in any way, only to allow a horde of market fishermen to gather in the half grown and spawn loaded fish by the million during the few months in the year when they are easiest taken, and when the game wardens can do nothing to prevent the slaughter because the present law permits hook and line fishing to any extent.

The New Year Dawns Very Auspiciously.

Two went to Geo. W. Shwall, Chicago, Ill.; two to Nat'l Bank of Commonwealth, Boston, Massachusetts; two to Hamilton National Bank of Fort Wayne, Indiana; two to Dr. W. H. Y.; one to First National Bank, Taylor, Tex.; one to a depositor through Union National Bank, New Orleans, La.; one to Isaac Williamson, 2,005 North Front St., Philadelphia, Pa., etc., etc. No. 94,127 drew the third prize of $50,000, also sold in twentieth parts; one paid to Chicago National Bank, Ill.; one to C. C. Dildine & Co., St. Joseph, Mo.; one to National German American Bank of St. Paul, Minn.; one to Merchant's National Bank, Louisville, Ky.; one to City National Bank, Cairo, Ill.; one to a depositor, through Wells, Fargo & Co, San Francisco, Cal.; one to J. M. Martin, Ambia, Texas, etc., etc. The next event of a similar importance will be on Tuesday, March 12, 1889. All information about it may be obtained on an application to M. A. THE STAGE AND PLAYERS.

Alice Harrison has been engaged to play Topsy for Clay M. Greene's spectacular version of "Uncle Tom's Cabin."

"Shenandoah," Bronson Howard's new play, will be the first of the important productions in New York next season.

Harry Mann will go to San Francisco on May 1 to take up his abode permanently in that city as manager of the new California theater.

Fanny Davenport is said to have sold a piece of property near Chicago recently for $50,000, which she bought a few years ago for $18,000.

The tour of "Shenandoah" next season will probably be confined to the large cities. Twelve weeks will be divided between Philadelphia and Chicago.

Patti Rosa seems to have been accepted as the proper sort by the London people. Deserving far beyond others in her class, her friends in America will rejoice in her success.

Helen Dauvray returns to the stage next year for a short season as a member of Joseph Jefferson's company. Her associates in the same company will be Mrs. John Drew, John Gilbert, E. J. Buckley and C. W. Couldock.

Wilson Barrett opens his Amealcan tour Oct. 7 at the Boston Theater, appearing in "Ben My Chree." On Oct. 14 Mr. Barrett begins an engagement in New York at the Fifth Avenue Theater, during which he will be seen in "Good Old Times," "Ben My Chree," "Claudian," "Chatterton," "The Color Sergeant," and "Hamlet."

Arrangements have been made Mr. Moore, the agent of Charles Wyndham, who tours this country next season under his own management, to play that star for six weeks at Palmer's in November next at the close of Salvini's engagement at that house. This will postpone the incoming of the stock organization until the end of the year.

M. R. Jacobs, says the New York Mirror, is a tremendously busy man. He spends his days in disposing of a mass of business and his nights in traveling from city to city. He is almost constantly on the wing, and he tells me that he has had but one evening free to spend quietly with his family in the last five or six years. Jacobs has a complete system, and it is strictly followed in the administration of his immense chain of theaters. Everything runs with the regularity of a clock, but he has to diffuse himself all along the line, nevertheless.

A delirious desire has suddenly been engendered among certain American actors to protect themselves against foreign competitors, and a secret society called the "Knights of Thespis" has been formed. The "Hamfatters union" has promised to lend their assistance and the "Brotherhood of Barnstormers" will use their influence to further the interests of the Knights. The "Progressive Supers" association are in full harmony with the movement and the "Chorus Girls' Legion of Honor" and the "Ancient and Honorable Order of Ballet Dancers" will be formed on the right side. The dime museum "United Order of Freaks" have also notified the committee that they wish to be counted in.

Contracts are signed by the terms of which Robson and Crane are to fill their farewell engagement as joint stars in the Star Theater of New York. The partnership between these two comedians ends on May 12, and they will begin their term at the Star on April 15, continuing it for four weeks. Miss Rose Coghlan has been induced to cancel her last week to accommodate Robson and Crane, so that her engagement at the Star, which commences on April 1, will include but two weeks. Robson and Crane will present Bronson Howard's familiar play, "The Henrietta," which had such a successful run at the Union Square Theater last year, and will close their business career as partners with this, their greatest success.

I have been bothered with catarrh for about twenty years; I had lost sense of smell entirely for the last fifteen years, and had almost lost my hearing. My eyes were getting so dim I had to get some one to thread my needle. Now I have my hearing as well as I ever had, and I can see to thread as fine a needle as ever I did, my sense of smell is partly restored and it seems to be improving all the time. I think there is nothing like Ely's Cream Balm for catarrh—Mrs. E. E. Grimes, 66 Valley street, Rendrill, Perry county, Ohio.
